Some forty of Austria's rafter-tickling yodels and songs, and rollicking folk-dances make up the show "Visitors from Vienna." Touring the United States with a cast of 30 Austrian students and village school-teachers, the production is a goodwill gesture designed to introduce Austrian folk-culture to Americans.

The melodic capsule tour of romantic Austria presents the songs and dances of the Tyrol, Carinthia, Styria, Upper and Lower Austria, Salzburg and the legendary Vienna. But also samples of the cultures of the small ethnic minorities in Austria are given by Croatian and Hungarian costumes and dances and Slovene folk songs.

The fast paced show is arranged according to the seasons of the year, and the great variety of Austrian authentic folk-songs and folk-dances is strung together by a simple plot: the story of some tourists from Vienna and the Burgenland who on their mountain tour happen to witness some village customs and make friends with the mountain peasants.

The Spring Scene is laid in an alpine village square. With cowbells and the cracking of whips the village youths are waking the grass-demons ("Grassauslauten"), and they also celebrate the beginning of spring with an age-old dance and jolly folk-songs and yodelling round their "Maibaum" (may pole). In the summer the visitors from Vienna take part in a harvest festival of the village people with all its carefree and happy frolicking. In the autumn some of the villagers return the visit, and we see them join their Viennese friends in a "Heuriger," one of the quaint, little wine gardens on the outskirts of Vienna with their typical sentimental music. Here Susan, one of the Viennese tourists is affianced to the Tyrolean peasant boy with whom she had fallen in love, and the company celebrate the betrothal in their traditional Viennese way. In the winter a colorful peasant marriage takes place far out in the Alps. A number of old peasant customs, as for instance the bridal dance, the taking off of the bridal belt and veil and an old marriage dance-the Agate-Dances are shown.

The Austrian students stress the fact that they are only amateur singers and musicians, nevertheless all the critics are unanimous in praising the high level of their performances and the fact that in spite of their informality these performances and the fact that in spite of their informality these performances offer entertainment at its best. "We hope that our American friends will not gain

This Week Begins BSU Enlistment Plan To Make Baptist Live Wires

"Every Baptist A Livewire" is the theme for the kickoff sessions of the New Year program of the Baptist Student Union. The enlistment campaign got underway this weekend, and will last for two weeks.

Six Represent GSCW At Ohio 'Y' Meet

GSCW was represented at the National Assembly of YMCA, YWCA, and Student Christian Associations, from December 26 through January 2. The week long meeting was held on the campus of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Delores Wheeler, Lafayette, Nan LeMaster, Atlanta, Josephine Spenereder, Mondsee, Austria, Olive Boline, Washington, Mary Blackmon, Washington, and Agatha Moody, Baxley, were the GSCW girls attending the conference.

There will be a new reminder of the campaign every day of the program. Gloria Nash, BSU president has announced that the publicity will be the most unique of any campaign the BSU has ever fostered.

The goal is 200 Baptist in Sunday School, 100 in Baptist Training Union and 40 in YWA. The group plans to make their Baptist students become more active in church activities this quarter. They will form Deputation teams out of this campaign to put on programs and attend meetings at other churches. There will be visitation in the dorms. There will be dorm prayer meetings for the campaign. Dormitory chairmen will be responsible for organizing prayer groups for the campaign.

What Will They Do With Us? REGENTS ARE CONFUSED

The question of the week—Will the architects think our campus can be easily converted into a coed campus? The answer involves another question—if yes, where will the men come from?

The coed argument will go on forever we are sure. It seems inevitable, sooner or later it will happen. This is not the most strategic time to do anything about making a girls school over when the mighty Uncle is begging for the college age men and greeting them by the dozens every day.

As a group of seniors explained, it is sad to think we will graduate before they decide such an important issue. The same thing comes up every year and each graduating class feels the same way. They stayed for four years and they liked it the way it was. They don't want the others to miss a trick. Yet, boys would add a very interesting slant to our college life. Some girls think they would add get up and go to a class room and give the girls a little more incentive to study.

Our guess is that the Board of Regents will soon put a stamp of approval on some renovation for GSCW. If not, what other reason could account for the surveys we so bravely undergo each quarter. The board has decided one thing. That is that GSCW is a problem. We have caused ill winds at the University and been accused of socking up too much of the State education money for such a small school.

The letter to the Red and Black on the State education money made a great many Jessies rise up in the air about our college. We don't like the idea that the letter suggested of simply doing away with our school. They think we employ too many professors and are just generally too expensive to stay in existence for the number of girls turned out each year.

We admit we don't go in for the mass production graduations but the state will hear from the GSCW grads later. Our faculty is large for our size, but they are kept pretty busy the year round.

If we really had the time to look into the mechanics of the University or felt capable to talk about something we know relatively nothing about, we might find a skeleton too.

BUSSES MAY BE RESUMED IF STUDENTS APPROVE

There has been considerable talk about resuming busses that have at one time taken interested students to operas, plays, and worthwhile movies in Atlanta.

We would like some student opinion on the matter. Write your letters to: The Colonnade, Box 1, and drop them in the faculty mail box.

Overworked And Underpaid!

That's the teacher, the professor—hisail for the glory of the profession and the satisfaction of a job well done.

We can't say enough about the teachers who are already over worked and underpaid and still bargain for one of the extra two hour courses offered this year.

The courses are helps to people needing special study in something that is not offered in a five hour course or people looking for something that they really want to have fun with.

There is a course in flowering plants this quarter. Dr. Stokes is helping the group to learn more about camellias. Miss Tait offered her assistance to the campus bird lovers last spring quarter and sacrificed her time at six o'clock in the morning to help her group. Mr. Aiken is offering a course in Personal Finance this quarter and Miss Strickland is instructing a class in minority groups. For the art minded there is a course in Crafts by Miss Padgett. Mrs. King has helped girls in a Nutrition course. Many of the faculty members have given their time and work to these interesting and informative courses. They are not given a salary raise for this extra service to the students.

Whether we take one of these courses or not, it might be a good idea to remember to say a thank you to our faculty for their unsung services for these courses and the other student activities in which they participate.

Tree Spirit

By CAROL JONES

In the warm flush of spring's morning,
You joyfully raise your branches delicately tinted with green.

Cheerfully, happily standing in the warm, life-
restoring sun,
Nodding gayly to a friend,
Smiling your content and bliss.

I have seen you in the wind dance,
Weaving, turning, bending, lifting, twisting.
Graceful.

Music in motion. Poetry in light.
One moment trembling as though in fear.
The next, lurching and moaning as though in pain.

Dipping, bowing, in surrender,
Then suddenly rising in wild, nameless joy!

You seem not to mind the heat of the summer sun.
Underneath your branches the earth is cool
and damp

With a smell as fresh as that of the dewy morning.
Above, you stand quiet, strong, peaceful,
Green.

With a touch of sadness,
Yet holding suppressed excitement and a hint of laughter.

You wave a bright arm, colorful with hues of red and gold,
And only a suggestion of the usual green,
Gently at first you wave,
Then faster and faster, till,
To your surprise,
All of your leaves are gone!

Silhouetted against a deep rose and grey sunset,
Bare and bleak,
Yet beautiful, you stand.

Bleak and beautiful,
Barren and beautiful,
Cold and beautiful

As the deep blue-purple descends and drops gently about the sunset
A drapery as dark as your own.

Dr. Warmingham Leads Human Relations Week

The YWCA will sponsor the coming Human Relations Week on campus January 22-26. The week is well planned and will be an inspiration to every student who is interested in any field.

The week has been planned with the students in mind. The committee has thought of every angle of the speeches as well as the meeting time and places. They have secured the very capable Dr. Warmingham to talk at the discussions.

It seems very fitting that Dr. Warmingham should open the week in the Monday program sharing his time with the Austrian students that will be on the campus.

Many students have since noted what they missed by not attending the full program planned for the Religious Emphasis Week. These programs are not just put together and given a name. Some of the most capable campus leaders and faculty members put hours of planning and thought into these meetings. He should realize that there is something there for each of us to gain from the meetings, and attend.

Letter From Jessie Belle

Dear Cousin:

The surveyors were here again this week. These men were architects looking for the prospects of making us coed. Most of us were thrilled but some girls don't agree. Well, it doesn't make much difference. The Regents will decide that.

Dr. Wells told us in chapel that he would save the quest house this weekend for the sophomores "Boy" dates. I am still trying to figure out the other kind.

A group of irate seniors cornered the architects who were also surveying for needed repairs in housing on the campus. They kept them cornered long enough to tell them the problem of the senior lounge, which really ain't. They explained that there was plenty room for the lounge and that we had been promised by everybody from the Dean to the maid that we would have our lounge right away! Someone says the furniture was ordered but just hasn't come.

Bell Annex has recently gotten new metal desks all around and Sanford has new chests, but the seniors need a lounge. In September we thought we could wait a week or so, in October we waited, in November we stood in the cold, in December we froze or monopolized the student lounge, but we thought they were saving our furniture for a New Year's present.

Alas, return to campus—no lounge. We don't think it is really necessary now, we get along so well just carrying suitcases, dressing for P. E. classes behind bushes, in phone booths, etc., studying on the steps, snoozing in off times in the library and just loitering around campus. We have lost most of our friends who so willingly took us in at the beginning of school thinking our lounge would be ready in a few weeks. I even heard one of the girls got so tired of sharing her room with 18 seniors that she threw their paint cans, toothbrushes, library books and art supplies out the window.

WE DO NEED A LOUNGE.

Well, cousin, there are so many things on the agenda for this quarter that I will not have time to go home for a weekend. I just wish we didn't have classes, but you know this school doesn't offer a degree in the course I signed up for—Extracurricular activities.

Love,

JESSIE BELLE

The Snooper—

Weddings, Rings, Highlight Jessie Holiday Vacations

The Snooper really has had much snooping to do this week. They say Christmas time is the time for "good will towards men" and these gals certainly have monopolized on the fact. Among those who got hitched were Lila Williams, Mary Sue Lovell, Jackie Joiner, Joanne Malcom, Wanda Gray and Dot Turner.

The dining halls have been ringing out with best wishes for many Jessies with conspicuous left hands. These lucky gals include one of our freshmen Maggie Neil, Mairanne Turner, Claud Bloodworth, Dee Beechler, Winona Jordan, and Gertie Jane McMurray. Seniors getting ringed were Martha Jane Derden, Dot Hansard, Nona Wofford, Kathleen Benefield, Marilyn Witt, and Katherine Smith.

With the Christmas visitors were Sara Thornton who took to Tennessee waltzing with the Memphis boys. Dick Cotton, Tech ATO, visited Peggy Grubbs in Blakely. Polly Brannan started her New Year with Don in Jacksonville. . . . Sallie Pope is still talking with an accent since her Cuban Christmas. . . . Peggy Haynie visited in Miami and Nealia Harmon went to the other extreme to New York. Phyllis Cardwell spent her holidays in Missouri visiting her brother ????? While I'm talking about leaving. . . . After a date for the ATO Christmas dance Nan LeMaster friend, Roy, left for the Navy. (The draft would have gotten him later.) Leon visited Gwen Gatewood in Cartersville to the tune of a musical power box playing "Forever and Ever". . . . Olga Fallin and Ann Gatewood are the listeners since Christmas gifts of radios from their men friends. . . . Evelyn Knight, Joan Faulkner, Jackie Pickron synchronizing the watches their beaus brought Christmas Eve. . . .

Pat Ridgeway has new interest at North Georgia College while her roommate Norma Marshall is still ga-ga over the Theta medical student.

TO THE SOPHS: The weekend is yours, have fun!

Dr. Warmingham Leads Human Relations Study

Human Relations Week will be held January 21-27. This program is sponsored by the YWCA and the speaker for the week will be Dr. Osbert W. Warmingham. Dr. Warmingham is one of the Associate Directors for the American Youth Foundation. He was born in Cuddapah, India, and lived the first part of his life in Madras. He came to the United States to study and after graduating from the University of Wisconsin he had graduate work at Boston University. He has done advanced work in philosophy and theology in Oxford, England. He is a teacher, lecturer, philosopher, a student and reader in the fields of literature, history, science, music and the fine arts, and also is an author and poet.

Refugee and exchange students have long accustomed GSCW to foreign accents, and the new and highly successful Foreign Language Institute is steadily bringing more and more out-of-the-nation students to the GSCW campus. But this week there will be a greater variety of accents than usual floating on the chilly Milledgeville air; for the voices will bear marks of the tongues of both hemispheres and most of the opinions.

Students serving on the steering committee are: Mary Blackmon, Ann Waters, Carolyn Hadden, Det Durance, Joan Radford, Ellen Jones, Shirley Bryndt, Jane Rider, Ann Graham, Miriam McCollough, Gertrude Cox, Jane Bailey, Joanne Hamby, Alice Ann McKinley, Huanne Burnett, Miriam Dunson, Delores Wheeler, Olive Boline, Advisor, and Pat Wall, Chairman.

The week will officially be opened with an address in Chapel on January 21st, and each evening there will be platform addresses and dorm discussions. The speaker will be available for class room lectures and personal conferences with the students. There will be coffee hours in the Y Apt. after the platform addresses in the evenings.

There will be a special seminar for the engaged and married girls. Their will also be books on display in the area of personal relations, which can be ordered.

Vroni Stoekl Yodels With Austrian Group

Vroni Stoekl — star yodeler and zither player of the Austrian student troupe touring the United States with their goodwill musical production, is known throughout Austria as the "Nightingale of Brizental" the tiny village in the Tyrol which is her home.

Though only 20 years old, she has mastered the "Archduke Johann Yodel" considered the pinnacle of success for any yodeler.

Her voice has been described by critics as a combination of a bird warble and a waterfall.

Taps Leaders Sponsor Worship Workshop

The dormitory Taps chairman, under the auspices of the YWCA will conduct a worship workshop on the campus January 12 and 13.

Miss Marie Edwards, Executive Secretary of the Christian Association at the University of South Carolina will lead the workshop. All girls interested in learning to plan and lead good workshops are urged to come. The meetings will begin on Friday night. Claud Bloodworth is general chairman for the meetings.

Presbyterian Students Attend Auburn Meet

On December 28th, 1506 Presbyterian Young People arrived in Auburn, Ala., at A.P.I. to attend the fourth Quadrennial Youth Convention on the World Mission of the Church.

Eight GSCW students attended with the student worker. Those attending: Isabelle Rogers, Thelma Clegg, Janice Newsome, Miriam Dunson, Elizabeth Shefelton, Irene Riley, Ann Fleming, Barbara Dunson, Pat Wall, and Isabel Rogers.

The theme for the conference was, "My Life, His Plan, Our Mission." Among the main speakers were outstanding leaders such as Col. Francis Pickens, Miller, Charles W. Ranson, and Charles T. Leber. Other leaders of the church were also present. Dr. Kenneth Forman, author of From This Day Forward led a series of Bible Studies on the book of Acts.

Red Cross Officials Visit Peabody School, Talk To Ed. Majors

Pointing up the increasing importance of the American Red Cross and its Junior Division in these critical days, two Junior Red Cross officials from the Southern Regional Office in Atlanta will visit the Peabody Laboratory Schools and the Division of Teacher Education at GSCW, Jan. 9 and 10.

Dr. Frank Jenkins and Miss Mary Lee Anderson spent the two days in conferences and meetings with the two GSCW units, considering the importance of the relation of the Junior Red Cross program to that of the average elementary school. Miss Anderson is a former member of the GSCW faculty.

They will be in charge of the Elementary Education club meeting at 6:15 Tuesday.

Architects Survey For Safety And Men

A five man staff of professional architects is now surveying the entire school plant with the two fold view of determining what must be done to make all buildings conform to state safety laws and of ascertaining whether GSCW should continue to operate as a woman's college or should be converted into a co-educational institution.

The survey is part of the current program of the Board of Regents to effect a complete rehabilitation of the entire University system. The architects include Richard Aeck of Aeck Associates and Frank Bull, Fred Branch, Sid Tyndal, and Sumner Draper, all of Atlanta.

See You IN CHURCH Sunday

Why I Never Get Anything Done

By CAROL JONES

Its amazing what you can manage not to do in a seven-teen hour day (7:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. Jessie Standard Time.) Downright amazing!

Let's take my case for example. I hate to be always taking my case for example, but I guess there's really no Jessie any more typical than ma. I've been one so long and am likely to be one even longer. Me and rain, we sort of belong to GSCW.

by Carol Jones
I rise with the bell at 7 a.m., do whatever you're supposed to do before going to breakfast—I don't know what it is, I sleep through it) and take my cute lil' ole self off down to the dining hall.

Upon returning from a hearty meal, I comb my hair and fly away to class, a tad late. I eat a lot. Since I have named myself as a typical Jessie, I need must have a class whenever anybody else has one, for the story's sake, anyway, so I return wearily to my room at 5:00 after my seventh and last class of the day. What a sucker for punishment! And oh, what a beautiful story this would make to explain my grades to my folks. Naturally I must have some recreation, so I recreate until 7:30, when I get down to business and either go to the show or listen to the radio.

Just to make this good, let's bring in a dormitory meeting, a test the next day, and a term paper that must be in by Friday. And I wasn't blessed with naturally curly hair or clothes that would wash and iron themselves. And I do believe in an occasional bath, it helps support my favorite soap opera.

It's after eleven, and time for a few remarks such as: Where does time go? How can I stay up and do this? I'm dead on my feet. And so ends my day. Thank goodness it ends.

Leading Authority In Child-Welfare Visits At GSCW

The man who has often been described as "probably the world's leading authority in the field of child-welfare," Dr. Dan Prescott, will be an honored visitor at the Georgia State College for Women, Jan. 14-17.

Only recently returned from extensive work abroad, Dr. Dan Prescott, who is now director of the Institute of Child Study of the University of Maryland, will confer with and counsel future teachers, teachers of future teachers, superintendents and principals, P.T.A. members, and laymen in general who are interested in this vital work and are fortunate enough to be around during Dr. Prescott's visit.

Formerly a professor at Harvard, Rutgers, and the University of Chicago, Dr. Prescott was an educational consultant for the Occupation Governments in Germany for several years. He was on the staff of the UNESCO Seminar on Childhood Education in Czechoslovakia in 1948, was once a lecturer for the Institute J. J. Rousseau in Geneva, Switzerland, and is an author of many works in his field. He is a close personal friend of GSCW's president, Dr. Guy H. Wells, who was associated with him while they both were working as educational consultants in Germany.

Ga. Foreign Students At GSCW For Meet

The foreign students attending schools in Georgia will be the guests of GSCW for the weekend of January 12-14. The group will be housed in the Guest House.

There will be a tea for the group on Sunday afternoon in the YWCA apartment. The group will be the guests of the sophomore class at their dance Saturday night.

Included in the conference program is Sophie Pappasensation who will speak to the student body in chapel on Friday.

Dr. Prescott will address the GSCW student body at morning assembly, Jan. 15, and will appear that night on the program of a joint meeting of the Parent-Teacher Associations of the Peabody Laboratory Schools and the Georgia Military College. He will speak to the GSCW faculty at a dinner, Jan. 16, to which are also invited Sixth District principals and superintendents. Jan. 17, Dr. Prescott will be guest speaker at a dinner of the faculty of the GSCW Division of Teacher Education.

Essay Winners Get Trip To Europe

NEW YORK, December 3 — A scholarship trip to Europe next summer with all expenses paid, will be awarded to the person who writes the best essay titled "Why I Would Like to Go Hosteling in Europe," it was announced yesterday by officials of American Youth Hostels.

The winner in nation-wide competition for this trip will join one of the supervised groups sponsored by AYH and will spend eight weeks abroad. He will have his choice of trips to the British Isles, Central Europe or France and the Rhineland.

The British Isles trip includes visits to London, Cambridge, the highlands of Scotland, Loch Lomond, Wales, Belfast and Dublin. The itinerary of the France and England trip includes ten days in Brittany, a week in Paris and brief stays in London, Stratford-on-Avon and Oxford. Countries covered in the Central Europe trip are Germany, Austria, France and Switzerland.

Regardless of which group the winner selects, he will sail about June 15 and will return about September 1. Going as a member of an AYH group means that he over some distances by train and ship, but that the greater part of his trip will consist of hosteling.

Hosteling derives its name from the low-cost overnight accommodations, "hostels," available to those with hostel passes traveling by bicycle or hiking. Hostellers carry their clothing in saddlebags on their bicycles or in packs on their backs and frequently prepare their own food. Their expenses seldom exceed $1.50 a day.

The competition for the trip is open to United States citizens who will have reached the age of 17 by July 1, 1951. In addition, they must apply for a hostel pass for 1951. The pass costs two dollars for those under 21 and three dollars for those 21 or older, and permits the holder to stay at hostels both in this country and abroad for between 20 and 50 cents a day.

Entrants may use any number of words they choose in their essays up to 1,000. Entries must be postmarked not later than April 15, 1951. The winner will be notified by mail within two weeks and his name will be announced in the Summer, 1951, issue of Hosteling magazine.

The phrase "all expenses paid," officials of AYH pointed out, includes trans-Atlantic passage,

Wesley Group Sponsors Study

The annual Westminster Fellowship Conference will be held February 2-4, in Macon at the Tattall Square Presbyterian Church.

The theme for this conference will be "The Validity of Christ ... in my World, on my Campus and in my Life." The main speakers will be Dr. J. N. Goddard, with the Board of Secondary Schools and Colleges from Decatur, and Rev. M. C. McIver, student minister from the University of Alabama.

the wrong impression from our merry-making that we Austrians are a nation of merry idlers, says young Susanne Polsterer who designed the show together with Walter Weber, really we are a hard-working nation, even though we still know how to be gay and happy."

Dr. Oskar Bock, lecturer at the University of Vienna and founder of "Amt fuer Studentenwanderungen" is director of the tour group.
